

Press release:

Viasea Shipping expands its network with more sailings and new ports

16th of February 2024

Viasea Shipping announces a significant expansion of its shipping network, increasing frequency and adding new ports. Viasea will now offer a total of 3 weekly sailings between the Netherlands and Norway to meet growing demand and strengthen its commitment to efficient logistics.

Viasea Shipping is also introducing new ports in the Oslofjord, namely Borg Port in Fredrikstad, Larvik, and Brevik. This opens up increased accessibility and opportunities for businesses operating in these regions and making it even easier to move cargo from road to sea.

Another notable change includes the switch of the London port, with Viasea Shipping now operating from Tilbury instead of Thamesport. This strategic move is designed to optimize logistics and provide better services to customers.

" For Viasea Shipping, this expansion is a natural step in our strategy to meet customer needs and enhance our presence in shortsea in Europe. we are particularly excited to strengthen our position on reliable sea freight solutions between the UK, continental Europe and Norway."

Morten Pettersen, Managing Director Viasea Shipping

Increased capacity with larger vessel in the Baltic service

In addition to these changes, Viasea Shipping will also increase capacity on the route to the Baltic and Poland by introducing a larger ship on this service. This will not only increase Viasea's capacity on their Baltic service but also contribute to reducing the carbon footprint through making it easier to choose sea freight as it is a more sustainable transportation method than road.

With these initiatives, Viasea Shipping continues to reinforce its reputation as a reliable and innovative player in shipping and logistics while addressing the ever-evolving needs of customers.
